Real Easter Bunnies Are Not Toys...

Just as they do with toys, some children stop caring about a live Easter chick, bunny, or duckling when it is no longer cute and new.

Thoughtless parents and children neglect their need for warmth and food. Others cruelly abandon them in local woods or ponds—unable to fend for themselves—where they die.

It is illegal to buy these animals in some states and cities because they may carry salmonellosis, a severe intestinal disease that can infect people.

This Easter, surprise your child with a stuffed toy, or visit your local animal shelter to learn about the puppies and kittens waiting there to become a lasting member of your family.

Aldermen to set date for special election in Waveland Ward 3

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Board of Aldermen is expected to set a date Tuesday for a special election in Ward Three.

However, city officials do not know yet whether the election will have to be held under a recently finished redistricting plan or within the old ward lines, Mayor John Longo Jr. said Friday afternoon.

The proposed date is Tuesday, May 17, which under state law would make Friday, May 6, the deadline for qualifying.

Louis Smolensky, Ward Three alderman for the past nine and one-half years, resigned effective March 31, citing an opportunity for advancement at his place of employment as his reason for leaving.

After Smolensky left, Clarence Harris filed a qualifying petition for the position.

Under Section 23-1957 of the Mississippi Code, the governing authority of any city, town or village in which a vacancy occurs must order a special election at its next regular meeting or at a special meeting within 10 days of the vacancy. The 10 days excludes Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays.

The date of the election must not be less than 30 days or more than 45 days from the date on which the order is adopted and placed on the board minutes, the section states.

The date of the election must be advertised in a legal notice published at least 30 days prior to the election and notice must be posted in at least three public places in the city not less than 21 days before the election.

Candidates must qualify by petition filed with the municipal clerk at least 10 days before the date of the election. Longo said Charles Gottschalk of the Hancock County Election Commission will advise the city election commission on procedure, but the question regarding the redistricting may have to be taken to a state attorney general.

He said he is not certain whether the special election should be held according to the old ward lines that were used when Smolensky was elected about 18 months ago, or according to the new ward lines which have since received notice of no objection from the U.S. Department of Justice's Civil Rights Division.

The mayor said the number of voters represented in each ward was significantly out of balance when the redistricting project began in 1986, and he feels it would be most fair to use the new ward lines.

Also on Tuesday's agenda is further discussion on a city clean-up campaign recently approved by the board.

According to Longo, the board is asking city residents to voluntarily clean up their property. If they fail to do so, the board will notify property owners by registered mail and give them 10 days to reply.

If no answer is received or cleanup is not started within 15, the property will be adjudicated to determine whether it is a hazard to public health and safety.

Longo said any property found to be a hazard can be cleaned up by the city and the cost can be added to the residents' taxes.

County, cities have bright future

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A record attendance was set Thursday for a Hancock County Chamber of Commerce morning meeting.

The State of the Community Breakfast Meeting sponsored by the chamber featured comments by Hancock County Board of Supervisor's president Ronald Cuevas, Bay St. Louis Mayor Vic Frankiewicz and Waveland Alderman Bob Hubbard.

Frankiewicz, who is now in his third year as mayor, started by giving a preview of the city's financial condition when his administration took office.

Hubbard talked about Waveland's Centennial celebrations and the city's new fishing pier.

Cuevas talked about the major objectives the supervisors set before taking office in January.

Frankiewicz said, "In July 1985 the city over spent $265,000; 1986 over spent amount was $53,000; and that figure was cut to $8,000 in 1987; while the city is now operating on an even keel."

Frankiewicz also stated that Bay St. Louis was now offering sewer service to 98 per cent of the city's residents, and doing a total audit of gas leaks and negotiating for better gas rates.

Other problems faced by the administration were the resurfacing of several streets, solving drainage problems, upgrading the police department, renovation of the VCI gym and recreational facilities.

Frankiewicz referred to the Bay St. Louis police department as being "the mostly highly trained police department in the county."

Hubbard listed several of the special events Waveland's officials will be participating in during the city's Centennial year which began with a very successful Red Beans & Rice dinner and will close with a meatball & spaghetti dinner.

Other events to be celebrated by Waveland will include an Oldtime Picnic at Buccamer State Park; kids fishing rodeo, pier dedication, burying a time capsule, street dance and a parade.

In commenting about the pier Hubbard said, "The fishing pier will be the only one in South Hancock County accessible to handicapped people and it will be 485 feet long."

The pier will be 11 feet above high tide and the water level at the end of the pier will be six feet at low tide and nine feet at high tide.

The pier's first phase construction should be completed in mid-July and is an extension of the Garfield Ladner Memorial pier, Terrace and Beach Boulevard, one block from Coleman Avenue.

Cuevas in talking about the major objectives of the supervisors updated the progress thus far.

A Hancock County Sand Beach Advisory Committee was reactivated, Cuevas said, adding, "Contracts have already been let for the repairs of box culverts under Beach Boulevard."

The county engineer is already working on plans for a one mile stretch of Beach Boulevard's renovation in Waveland, Cuevas stated.

A project to identify all of the dirt roads in the county has been completed, and the supervisors anticipate on blacktopping them within the next few years to cut down on maintenance costs, Cuevas said.

The board president emphasized he was using the term "we" which was referring to the entire Hancock County Board of Supervisors who were acting as a team.

"We have found blacktopped roads needing immediate attention and we feel we should take care of what we have first, before more damages occur," Cuevas said.

The Hancock County Park's responsibility had only been for McLeod State Park, our goal is to extend their responsibility for the county's entire recreational facilities, Cuevas commented saying, "We hope to get something going by summer."

The development of a uniform personnel policy for all county employees was one of the new administration's objectives.

Cuevas said, "Johnson (Bill Johnson, Hancock County maintenance superintendent) is finished with his personnel policy and it is hope the rest of the county's will soon be."

The construction of a new building to house several county agencies, such as the Welfare department, grant has been applied for and it we do not get it, we are looking to build by ourselves probably at the county fairgrounds, Cuevas stated.

A new county purchasing agent should be in place at the beginning of the fiscal year in October, Cuevas said.

A program for the resurfacing of the Old Spanish Trail which runs through Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Cuevas referred to it as a major thoroughfare, hopefully the project will be completed by this summer, the supervisor stated.

Emphasis was given by the featured speakers to the positive cooperation between the county and the two cities in helping to solve many problems.

The supervisor president talked about the importance of NASA and NSTL to Hancock County's economic development. He said we have to sell the people working at NSTL on wanting to live in Hancock County.

"The outlook is good for Hancock County, especially with the new Air Force contract. Hancock is also one of three locations being considered for the Advance Solid Rocket Motor. We need NASA and to sell them what they need, Cuevas added.

The supervisor allowed, "We need jobs and economic development is very important to us."

Cuevas commented on the fine job

Bill Johnson was going as Hancock County Park & Harbor executive director in regard to economic development.

Hancock County is currently very stable, Cuevas said. Cuevas complimented Hancock County Supervisor of Education Randall Randolph for a job well done in getting the administrative and highway department to extend the financing of Highway 90 past the new high school to be located at Stennis International Airport.

Cuevas closed by saying, "We want to give the people of Hancock County a dollar for every dollar of taxes spent."

Bay St. Louis attorney Henry Cook in alluded to the group's need about the Vietnam Moving Wall which will be at Point Cadot in June 1989.

He also commented on efforts being made to establish a permanent memorial on the Mississippi Gulf Coast to the Vietnam veterans.

Quotables by Cuevas

Tomorrow begins the 41st Annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs' Spring Pilgrimage.

Monday's tours will include NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories and the Welcome Center in Hancock County.

The tour at NSTL includes a visit to Gainesville on the banks of Pearl River. Gainesville at one time was the county seat for Hancock County.

The NSTL tour will also give visitors an opportunity to look at the exciting future offered by science and technology in addition to tours of the Space Shuttle Complex.

Our Welcome Center in Hancock County is one which I feel is the best in the state and many states around.

Manager Sue VanZandt and her staff do a fantastic job in welcoming visitors to Hancock County and South Mississippi every day of the year.

It is surprising how many local residents have not taken an opportunity of just driving through the Hancock County Welcome Center and observe the beautiful setting.

On Monday, ladies from the Bay-Waveland and Diamondhead Garden Clubs will assist at the Welcome Center as hostesses.

Pilgrimage hours at NSTL on Monday are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and at the Welcome Center 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Tuesday, Beauvoir, the last home of President of the Confederacy Jefferson Davis, Confederate Museum and Tomb of the Unknown Confederate Soldier, will be on the tour.

On Wednesday, Pass Christian will have some 10 locations on tour.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be the center of attraction for the Pilgrimage next Thursday.

Activities begin at 10 a.m. at the Bay-Waveland Garden Center located at 114 Leonhard Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

There will be several homes open for the Pilgrimage in the Bay-Waveland area.

Diamondhead's Pilgrimage tour will be next Friday.

We will give you more information on Diamondhead and other coastal cities in our next column.

We hope you all will try and make the tours which are available on the Pilgrimage.

At this time we wish each and everyone a very Happy Easter.

The People's Business

From Mississippi Economic Council

NEEDED: A FEW GOOD MEN

The U.S. Marine poster proclaims this message: Wanted—A Few Good Men.

The Mississippi Legislature could display the same sign.

The good news is that the state's lawmaking body does, indeed, have a few good men.

Here are four:

Representatives Eric Clark of Taylorsville, Terry Brown of Columbus, Ayres Haxton of Natchez, and Steve Holland of Plantersville.

The first three make up a subcommittee of the House Committee on County Affairs. Mister Clark chairs the committee. The fourth, Holland, has served as an "honorary" member of the committee, thanks to an "appointment" by the chairman. He is vitally interested in the subject.

These four men have worked diligently for several days now writing and rewriting legislation providing for effective, yet practical and workable, mandatory unit systems for county road operations. Their commitment to the task has carried them through exhaustive days of hearings, examination and cross examination of witnesses, evaluation of hundreds of pages of legislative proposals and existing statutes, and time-consuming bill drafting, with the good help of committee counsel Jerry Barham, a member of the House legal staff.

Excellent legislation has been prepared, but the task is far from over. Committee votes and floor action are still ahead.

Mississippians will want to get behind the legislation prepared by these four House members. Adoption of the proposed bill and implementation by the counties will mean better government for all Mississippians.

All Mississippians are indebted to these four—Clark, Brown, Haxton and Holland.

We need a few more good men like these.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

By BILL MINOR
JACKSON—One legislator remarked, "once again, we're going to re-invent the wheel," as the state Senate last week passed a bill changing the way the state runs its economic development program.

For the umpteenth time in the memory of this writer, the Legislature and a fresh new state administration have set out to get the state industry-hunting program moving by reorganizing the official state agency for economic development.

After more than 40 years of having a policy-making board at the top of the organizational chart, the new plan is to do away entirely with a board and give the governor direct control of the state economic development program.

This is indicative of the new thinking which Gov. Ray Mabus has brought to state government. The aggressive young governor believes that if he is going to be held responsible for the state's economic progress, he should have the authority to run the show without a board as a buffer.

"He's (Mabus) going to be dealt a hand, and if he wants to move with it, he's going to have the opportunity to do it," said Sen. Bob Montgomery of Canton, the Senate Finance Committee chairman who sponsored the reorganization bill.

Under the measure approved by the Senate without a dissenting vote the existing 15-member State Board of Economic Development would be abolished. The governor would be given the power to appoint the executive director of the Department of Economic Development and also set his salary.

For many years under the old Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board (better known as the A & I Board) a tradition had grown up that the campaign manager of the governor would be made the director, giving the whole system a distinctive political flavor.

Governors usually selected as board members their biggest supporters and contributors as a sort of blue-ribbon award for political loyalty.

In the Cliff Finch years, from 1976 to 1980, the A & I Board was made even more so a political comedy. Political hacks and Finch hangers-on were put on the board payroll as staffers.

This is what prompted William Winter in 1980 to create the new Board of Economic Development with the idea of insulating the program from political domination. For the first time, under the Winter-passed law, the director of the Department of Economic Development was required to be a professional, meeting specific qualifications.

Winter's effort was hailed as the beginning of a new era of professionalism in the quest for industry and expansion of the state's economy. The new BED, with Winter's support, hired a nationally recognized professional developer, Bill Hackett, a Mississippi native who had held top jobs in the field in Louisiana.

There was hope for the first time that Mississippi had established continuity in the management of its economic development program and had broken the habit of playing musical chairs every four years with directors.

But not long after Winter went out of office, Bill Allain, his successor, saw to it that Hackett was booted out. Jerry McDonald, Hackett's replacement, looked good on paper but turned out to have personality and health problems that rendered him ineffective.

With Allain providing no gubernatorial leadership, the state's economic development program was widely viewed as being at a standstill, giving rise to strong legislative sentiment for a new approach.

Sen. Robert Crook of Ruleville, who often in the past has opposed giving governors more power, admits he has been converted by Mabus' eagerness to be an aggressive industrial salesman and the failures of the economic development program the past four years.

"What we're doing now is not working so I'm willing to let this fellow have a shot at it," he said. "You have to use the prestige of the governor's office to get in the door of these industrial prospects. If he is going to be directly accountable for the program, he should be able to run it."

Some longtime observers of the state economic development program, however, contend that abolishing the traditional board concept will deprive various areas of the state having input into development of the overall public policy and will put the program more into politics.

"I'm willing to take that risk if it is going to produce jobs," Crook said, apparently voicing the view of many lawmakers.

Absence of catclaw vine from coastal area troubles resident

March 28, 1988

Editors

The Sea Coast Echo

P.O. Box 230

Bay St. Louis 39520

Gentlepeople:

Surely somebody in your Bay-Waveland-Pass Christian area can help me recapture a memorable element of my childhood in Mobile.

All of my adult life since leaving the community of my formative years—for WW2 followed by career-path in Montgomery, Atlanta, Virginia and Chicagoland until Bride and I finally were able to retire here at year-end 1986—I have longed to see and sniff again, and introduce Bride to, the unique "catclaw vine" that decorated our residential fence.

The vine is known also as either doxantha or daxantha, and as golden trumpet because of its long-throated and petunia-like sunburst-yellow blossom, a hummingbird's delight. I have learned further there's another scientific name beginning with "McPadyeni—" but we haven't pinned this down and I hope it doesn't matter.

"It's "catclaw vine" common name comes from the tendrils of the vine, which I recall vividly growing in opposing pairs at regular, periodic leaf-joints of the vine. These tendrils contain three sharp-pointed, curled "fingers" which could attach themselves to almost any surface, and actually could draw our blood if we dragged them across the tender skin of the backs of our hands (much like today's TV commercial lady who writes "dry skin" on her hands with her fingernails).

Increasingly determined to find and relive this catclaw vine, last summer while in Mobile on business, I stopped by my childhood home and described our fence and vine to the present long-term owner/occupants of the home. They told me it took them nearly 20 years to "kill off" the last of that vine which they said annually "tried to tear up our cabages" in their patch which over years had replaced my Mother's cherished rose garden along the catclaw-vine fence. (It never bothered Mother's roses.)

Floral nurseries along this Magnificent Mississippi Riviera and as far west as New Orleans say they have no concept, literature or idea where we can find such a vine. But one thoughtful nurseryman in New Orleans suggested that if this was an "old town" cultivation in my 1930s youthful years, then surely one or more of Bay-Waveland-Pass area's similar "old town" homes has them along its fence-lines, and would contribute a rooting or cutting for us to send up into a pine grove, of which we have several in our yard.

Can you, please, through one or more of your readers, please find by Bride and me one or two of my childhood loves—catclaw, golden trumpet or doxantha/daxantha vines?

Thank you, Sea Coast Echo, and Best luck,

Don Costa
Pass Christian

Saturday is final day for free tax assistance

Bay-St. Louis

The income tax filing season for the 1987 year is nearly over. As coordinator for the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program (VITA) in Bay St. Louis, I would like to invite anyone needing to file a 1040EZ, 1040A, or basic 1040 (with Schedules A and B), or anyone having questions to visit our site at the Hancock County Public Library on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis on Saturday, Apr. 9 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

This assistance is free, and we'll do the Mississippi State Income Tax return as well.

At this time I would also like to thank our three VITA volunteers who have donated their time each Saturday. Eldridge Lewis, Muriel Miller and Carl Danna are all very competent and careful preparers.

We have learned a lot from each other and the IRS training sessions this season and are most anxious to pass it on.

The library employees have also been quite helpful and we would like to thank them for allowing us to use the meeting room.

We are hoping to make this assistance program available next year and in following years. Please held up make it a successful, worthwhile program.

News from the Capitol City

As a candidate for governor, I held a series of meetings around Mississippi to meet the people and make my case. The month after I was elected, I held another set of regional meetings to thank supporters.

Now, as governor, I am at it again with a new series of "town meetings."

These latest hearings started Tuesday night in Laurel. The others will be in Vicksburg on Mar. 28, Cleveland on Mar. 29, Tupelo on Apr. 7 and Biloxi on Apr. 14.

When I served as legal counsel to former Gov. William Winter, we held a series of town meetings around the state to rally support for the Education Reform Act of 1982. Those meetings were very successful in helping build support behind that successful, landmark legislation.

The town meetings I am holding now serve a somewhat different purpose.

First and foremost, I do not plan to be a governor who remains confined in the capitol and the Governor's Mansion. Public officials can forget what the real world is like if they never leave the halls of government. I want to be the kind of governor who hears from you directly and often, not just at election time.

Although it is important to be in Jackson when the Legislature is in session I also feel it necessary to speak to people outside Jackson during the session to inform you about developments and get your input.

Accordingly, I will be talking briefly at these upcoming town meetings about the status of my legislative proposals to raise teacher pay, hold a constitutional convention, streamline and reorganize state government, and reform county government.

Also, I want to hear whatever else is on your minds. For those who do not get a chance to ask questions, my staff will be prepared to take down your questions and respond promptly.

Julie, my wife, will attend the town meetings to talk about the two major issues she will be working on over the next four years—day care and adult literacy. She, too, will need your help and input to make things work.

I will continue to hold town meetings when the legislature is out of session and throughout my term as governor.

Also, we will spread these town meetings across the state with the goal of reaching all citizens over the next four years.

Your government should not be something distant. It should be something real; a name and a face, and a person with whom you can talk.

These town meetings are one way in which my office can bring government to you.

Hancock County Supervisors Ronald Cuevas, Mike Ladner and Robert Peterson. The exercise was to test the readiness of local agencies in the event of a tornado disaster in the area. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Local CD holds 'Table Top' exercise

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A Table Top Exercise was held Thursday by Bay-Waveland-Hancock County Civil Defense to test the readiness of local agencies in the event of a tornado disaster. Robert Boudin, Civil Defense director, in commenting about the exercise, stated, "I was well pleased with the outcome of the exercise, it was one of the best participations we have ever had in this type of exercise."

Boudin added, "I feel we are better prepared if a real tornado occurs. There is still a lot of planning and work to do but we have a good start."

Those participating in the exercise included Hancock County Supervisors Ronald Cuevas, Mike Ladner and Robert Peterson; Bay Mayor Vic Frankiewicz; Hancock Medical Examiner Harold Stiglet; city and county CD volunteers; representatives from the Hancock County Medical Center; Board of Health; Hancock County sheriff's office; and the Hancock County Fire Association.

Boudin said there were two state CD observers and they stated it was one of the better exercises they have witnessed.

The exercise was designed to help the departments of Hancock County understand how their functions relate to other agencies and help them make some preliminary plans on how to react in the event of a tornado disaster.

Working as a group, the participants were presented various problems and then were asked how they would deal with them.

The exercise pointed out the strengths and weaknesses in the present plans and served as a base for future plans.

Working in the exercise required the key officials to think about contingencies that might not have been previously considered. The exercise also served as a classroom for some of the officials who had never participated in a discussion of what would happen in a tornado.

Discussions centered around such

Farmers Home to elect new

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) will begin accepting nominations April 5 for election of county committee members under new rules that make it easier for farmers to qualify as candidates and to vote.

Frank W. Niemeyer, Jr., county supervisor, said FmHA county committees perform a variety of duties for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's credit agency, including deciding whether an applicant is eligible for a farm loan.

"One important change broadens the definition of a farmer to anyone who has an interest in a farm in the county as owner, tenant or sharecropper," Niemeyer said.

"The new definition also includes the spouse of an eligible farmer. An old requirement that more than half of the candidate's income must come from the farm operation has been dropped."

The nominating period has been extended to 45 days from the previous 25 days, thus allowing more opportunity for people to run for the committee," Niemeyer said. At least three eligible farmers, including the nominee, must sign the petition.

Two of the three committee members are elected by farmers in the county, and one is appointed by FmHA. One of the elected seats is to be filled for a three-year term at this year's election, which is set for June 10.

Another important change is that year 10 electors must be either a landowner, a tenant, a sharecropper, or a borrower of a farm loan. Previously, this was not the case.

Anyone interested in running for the committee can obtain a petition and other information from the FmHA county office at 610 E. Hancock Square, 4th Fl., Bay St. Louis, MS.

SAND SCULPTURE—A group of volunteers led by Jim Henrie and Mike Simpson work Friday to complete a 70-foot by 35-foot sand sculpture of a crucifix in front of St. Paul's Catholic Church in Pass Christian. The sculpture, which took about 1 million pounds of sand and two days to build, is similar to one half its size that was done in the same spot during last year's Easter weekend. Henrie said the sculpture, painted upon completion, is dedicated to the memory of his late brother, Brian Henrie of Long Beach and the late Anthony Lolacano of Bay St. Louis. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Textron Marine Systems delivers 12th air cushion craft to Navy

John J. Kelly, president of Textron Marine Systems Division of Textron Inc., recently reported delivery of Landing Craft, Air Cushion (LCAC)-12 to Assault Craft Unit Four (ACU-4).

Acceptance of the craft by the U.S. Navy was at the Panama City, Florida, LCAC support facility.

LCAC-12 was driven under its own power from the New Orleans TMS production facility, across the Gulf of Mexico to Panama City. This voyage represents the longest single trip that is made by an LCAC.

The LCAC is an amphibious air cushion vehicle that can quickly transport troops, equipment and weapons from support ships over the horizon to dry ground beyond the beach and surf at speeds in excess of 40 knots.

Textron Marine Systems previously delivered the first six LCACs in 1986, and these are currently operating with the U.S. Navy Amphibious Force, Pacific Fleet, at ACU-5, Camp Pendleton, California. Craft seven through eleven are now in operation at ACU-4 at Little Creek, Va.

Eventually, 45 LCACs are scheduled to be deployed at the East Coast base and another 45 LCACs at the West Coast facility.

Textron Marine Systems has another twelve LCACs under construction at its production facility in New Orleans.

All LCACs now under contract are being delivered on schedule, within budget, and exceed specification requirements.

Since the inception of the LCAC program, TMS, developer of the LCAC, has been awarded contracts to build 24 LCACs for the U.S. Navy.

These contracts also include detail design, long lead materials, purchase of spare parts material and technical manuals.

The Navy plans to acquire nine additional LCACs in fiscal year 1989, with subsequent procurement of additional craft in the 1990's.

Textron Marine Systems will continue to provide support to the U.S. Navy for this vital and critical program.

Cajun Nite Concert slated Saturday at City Hall Park

Free entertainment is scheduled starring "Laissez Faire," a Louisiana Cajun band, Saturday evening at City Hall Park in downtown Bay St. Louis with festivities beginning as early as 5:30 p.m.

Primary sponsor of the event which is free and open to the public is Bay Technical Associates, a Bay St. Louis hi-tech firm that is dedicated to growth and progress in the Bay area, according to Tyson McMahon, president of the Bay St. Louis Merchants Association.

Chuck Ramsey, president of Bay Technical Associates, is due much appreciation for the generosity of his firm, McMahon added.

The evening's entertainment will also feature the Whirlwind Square Dancers and the Slidell Kloggers performing during intermissions as well as the musical talents of Jeff Gillette.

The public is urged to come early as 'Cajun food and drink will be available on the grounds with serving to begin at 5:30 p.m.

Laissez Faire's performance will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Everyone is urged to bring lawn chairs or blankets and to enjoy this informal evening's entertainment," McMahon continued.

In the event of rain, the festivities will be moved to the Valena C. Jones City Gymnasium on Old Spanish Trail Road next to the Bay Police Headquarters.

This is the second of a series of free community concerts that is provided under the sponsorship of the Merchants Association for the public's enjoyment.

The City of Bay St. Louis is instrumental in providing the park and facilities necessary to hold such events.

McMahon added that so much of the success of these events has been due to unique cooperation and action of the Mayor and the City Council.

Many Bay downtown merchants are currently sponsoring a heavy saturation television spot schedule featuring the downtown area of the Bay as well as individual businesses in order to attract visitors and customers to this quaint and unusual historic section.

In addition to the concert the annual Reunion Bike Ride will be staged from Bay St. Louis on Sunday, Apr. 10.

This annual ride attracts cyclists from all over the South and this year's ride attendance is expected to break all records.

It's an event attracting the serious cyclist as well as recreational cyclists. Local cyclists are urged to participate. All information can be obtained from the Bay Area Chamber of Commerce, 200 N. Second St., Bay St. Louis.

Brothers honored at Stanislaus

At the annual Easter gathering of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, five Brothers will be honored at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis.

Three of them are commemorating 60 years of religious vows—Brothers Blaise Toups, Claude Petrus, and Quintin Ledet; the other two—Brothers Felix Bruyninckx and Geoffrey Kerwin, 50 years.

Brother Blaise, formerly Brother Constantius, was a missionary in Africa for 15 years. He and Brother Quintin, natives of Lafourche, La., were classmates at Thibodaux College.

They left together to become Brothers of the Sacred heart in Metuchen, N.J., where two years later they took first vows.

In 1934 they pronounced their final vows together in the St. Stanislaus Chapel. Both obtained degrees from Loyola University and LSU in Baton Rouge.

One of their classmates, Brother Claude, was born in Alexandria, La., attended Mepard Memorial High School, and joined the Order the same year as Brothers Blaise and Quintin.

He too made vows with them, first at Metuchen, then, six years later his vows for life at Bay St. Louis.

Brother Claude has held a variety of assignments. He has been teacher, steward, farmhand, librarian, maintenance man, and office worker.

His teaching assignments spanned 22 years in which he saw service in the Brothers' schools in New Orleans, Vicksburg, Baton Rouge, and Mobile.

He was librarian at McGill High School in Mobile and at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis.

He holds a PhD in English and another in Library Science.

Now stationed at St. Stanislaus where he has been for the past 19 years, Brother Claude is recovering from cataract surgery.

Brother Quintin—whose brother is Brother Albert, director of the Brothers at St. Stanislaus—spent more than 30 years in the classroom.

New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Bay St. Louis, and Dallas have been the scenes of his teaching endeavors.

Additionally, Brother Quintin was librarian at Catholic High School in Baton Rouge; at Bishop Dunne High School in Dallas; and at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis.

In 1964 while in Dallas, he served briefly as provincial secretary to Brother Hubert. Today Brother Quintin is retired at St. Stanislaus where he has spent the last 15 years.

Brother Blaise, whose teaching assignments include Alexandria; Vicksburg; New Orleans; Gulu, Uganda; Bay St. Louis; Baton Rouge; Nyapea, Uganda; Okaru, Sudan; Houma; and Donaldsonville, retired formally from the classroom 12 years ago.

Currently, he tutors students in math at Delgado in New Orleans.

The three Diamond Jubilarians are all from Louisiana as is one of the Golden Jubilarians—Brother Felix Bruyninckx, an Alexandria native. Brother Felix's work has, for the most part, been performed in the Great Outdoors.

He entered Metuchen in 1934, took first vows in 1938 and final vows in 1944 with his classmate Brother Geoffrey.

He is an experienced farmhand; over the years he has been stationed at Metuchen; Bay St. Louis; Huntington, N.Y.; and New Orleans. Brother Felix is now stationed in Alexandria at Our Lady's Manor.

Brother Geoffrey Kerwin, the second golden Jubilarian, has spent 31 years as a missionary in various African locales.

A native of Perth Amboy, New Jersey, Brother studied at Metuchen, then taught in Verdun, Canada; Baton Rouge; and New Orleans.

Before his first missionary assignment in Uganda, he obtained a bachelor's degree from Spring Hill college.

In Africa he served as director and principal. After ordination, he was chaplain for a number of establishments in Africa and in the U.S.

Brother Geoffrey has taught in Houma on a number of occasions and at present is on the faculty at Brother Martin High School.

Local fund raising chairman named

Mrs. Frank McNeil is Bay St. Louis chairman for the Mississippi Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's spring bike-a-thon and other fund-raising events.

"The volunteer spirit is vital in helping the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation complete its mission in finding better controls and a cure for cystic fibrosis," McNeil said.

"Cystic fibrosis is an incurable genetic disease which primarily affects the lungs and digestive systems of thousands of children and young adults."

"Thanks to the past fund-raising campaigns held in our community, tremendous strides have been made toward finding this cure. Our scientists are calling cystic fibrosis the polio of the '80's since continued research could result in the elimination of this disease," she continued.

"Our community event is one of many held in Mississippi, and combined, these A-thons raise thousands of dollars to fight this now fatal disease. I urge each citizen to contact me and become involved in this effort," McNeil added.

The money raised will help fund research to determine the genetic causes and improved treatments for cystic fibrosis, the nation's number one genetic killer of children and young adults. Advances funded by community events have brought the cure for cystic fibrosis within sight, she said.

For a financial report or printed materials on signs and symptoms of cystic fibrosis, call the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, toll-free, at 1-800-FIGHT-CF.

Blue Jeans Garden Club

The Blue Jeans Garden Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clyde Ladner for the club's March meeting with 15 members in attendance. Following a prayer led by Mrs. Ladner for club members absent because of illness and their families, Mrs. Ladner read a beautiful thought-provoking poem 'Life is Brief' written by Loretta Inman.

Some of the many important topics discussed were the Spring Pilgrimage, with the ladies voting to meet and attend in a group.

Another discussion of interest was the club's participation in the Special Olympics scheduled at NSTL April 16. The club voted to sponsor two athletes, and five ladies have volunteered their time that day to help wherever needed.

Mrs. Edward Feahney, president, conducting the business meeting also requested luncheon chairlady, Mrs. Mary Dana to present her report on the group's 40th Birthday Luncheon and annual Hat Show to be held in May.

Hat Show rules were read, reviewed and discussed for the benefit of new members.

The club's by-laws, customarily read by the parliamentarian in January each year, were also read and reviewed by Mrs. A. M. Thomas upon President Feahney's request.

In the March plants and arrangements competition among members, winners in the various categories were: Miniature, Mrs. James Lagasse; Dried, Mrs. Lloyd Garcia; Wild, Mrs. Frank Peterson; Potted, Mrs. Sidney Coogan; Horticulture, Mrs. George Heitzmann; Cultivated, Mrs. A. M. Thomas.

Brogle-Boudin

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the March 5 Nuptial Mass uniting Penelope Leigh Boudin and Daniel Patrick Brogle in marriage. The Reverend Johnny Planea officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Boudin Sr. of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Brogle of Riveridge, La. and Gertrude Duthu of Waveland.

Decorating the sanctuary were arrangements of white roses and mauve anemones.

Musical selections were presented by organist Mrs. John McKenna.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of white bridal satin fashioned with fitted bodice embellished with beaded embroidered lace and sweetheart neckline. The bell sleeves were edged with cutout lace, and matching lace adorned the full bell skirt which fell from a V-dropped waistline. Identical lace bordered the chapel-length train. A beaded and beaded wreath featured sequined flowers and pearl sprays on either side and held a two-tiered fingertip veil of illusion with an illusion pouf strewn with pearls.

The bride carried a trailing cascade of white silk roses, blossom spray, stephanotis and jubilee gypsophylla with pearl sprays and picot ribbon.

Connie Hickman of Lyman, Miss., was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Tammy

Brogle, sister-in-law of the groom, and Tracey Davis, both of Bay St. Louis; Lisa McCardle of Chalmette, La., cousin of the bride; and Rene Cuchanan of Biloxi.

Amanda Ladner and Toni Necaize of Pass Christian, cousins of the bride, were flower girl and miniature bride, respectively.

The attendants were identically attired in formal gowns of fuschia taffeta, each with sweetheart neckline, shirred puffed sleeves and asymmetrical shirred bodice with candybox bow and streamers at the waist.

They carried cascades of mauve anemones, silver grey silk leaves and pearl spray with primrose ribbon. They wore hair ornaments of mauve berries, leaves and primrose ribbon.

Dwayne Brogle of Bay St. Louis, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Sean Turner and Joey Boudin, brother of the bride, both of Bay St. Louis; Kirk Johnson of Waveland and Shannon Smith of Pearl River.

Ushers were Curtis Ladner of Pass Christian, godfather of the bride; and Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride.

Ring bearer was Michael Boudin of Prairieville, La.; cousin of the bride. Miniature groom was Michael McGovern of Metairie, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. Boudin chose for her daughter's wedding a tea-length dress of dusty pink embossed satin with long sleeves and applique trim with matching satin accessories. The groom's mother was seated in a mint green and silver tulle and crepe tea-length gown with pearl and bone accessories.

Mrs. Brogle wore a silver-grey crepe de chine dress with pleated skirt and bodice and satin piping at the neckline and cuffs.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Bay St. Louis. Entertainment was provided by Keith Hoda.

On return from a wedding trip to Chattanooga and Gatlinburg, Tenn., the couple resides in Bay St. Louis.

Cholesterol: the topic of America

By Eva Ann Dorris
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Cholesterol, the fatty, wax-like substance accused of blocking our arteries and contributing to heart disease, is caught in the middle of America's fight for better health, and if the trend continues, Americans should win.

Cholesterol is today's and tomorrow's topic of conversation, said Melissa Mixon, a human nutrition specialist with the Mississippi milligrams of cholesterol, one cup of whole milk has 33 milligrams, butter has 31 milligrams per tablespoon and 3 ounces of lean roast beef has 77 milligrams.

"We need to choose lean cuts of meat and trim off any excess fat. Lean cuts of beef, pork and skinless chicken are comparable in their cholesterol content," she said. "Many dairy products have a low-fat version with less cholesterol."

The nutritionist added that vegetable products have no

Cooperative Extension Service.

"Cholesterol in the diet will continue to gain publicity as more consumers and food producers strive to control cholesterol levels in food and human cholesterol intake," she said.

Drug stores and health clinics are sponsoring cholesterol checks, and contests are underway to see which business employees, organization members and even entire city populations can reduce their cholesterol levels the most.

Cholesterol is found in all body cells, and it circulates in the blood. It is produced by the body for the manufacture of hormones, for the formation of bile, to help form vitamin D and other necessary purposes.

Cholesterol also enters the body through diet. Cholesterol is found in meat, dairy products and many foods prepared with animal products.

"Normally our bodies will produce enough cholesterol to meet our needs, you really don't need to get any from your diet," Mixon said. "Even if cholesterol is taken in through food, usually our system will reduce the amount of cholesterol it produces to compensate for the excess."

"But, for some people it doesn't work this way. Their bodies keep producing cholesterol, they get cholesterol from their diet and they end up with a high cholesterol level," Mixon said.

Excess blood cholesterol contributes to the growth of fatty deposits on artery walls. As the arteries become more restricted, blood flow becomes impaired and the chances of having a heart attack increase. This is why many medical experts believe elevated cholesterol in the diet is a cause of heart disease.

The American Heart Association recommends that all Americans, with or without a diagnosed high cholesterol level, reduce their cholesterol intake to 300 milligrams per day.

According to Mixon, this is a rather stringent requirement, but one that everyone should try to observe.

"Cholesterol is only found in animal products," she said. "You can't tell people this too often. Animal products such as eggs, meats, milk and butter are foods high in cholesterol and these are the foods we have to restrict in our diets."

One large whole egg has 274 cholesterol. Cooking with vegetable fats and oils or with margarine, a product made from vegetable oils, will not add cholesterol to the diet.

Other hints for reducing cholesterol in the diet include being label conscious at the grocery store. Watch out for foods that list any animal product in their ingredients such as egg yolks, butter, cream or butter fat.

Mixon said some food companies have begun voluntary listing of cholesterol content on product ingredient labels. She expects more companies to follow this trend. She added that just because one brand of a product advertises to be cholesterol-free, doesn't mean that a comparable brand, at a cheaper price, isn't also cholesterol-free.

Egg whites are cholesterol-free and can be used freely in cooking. The egg yolks contain all the cholesterol. Mixon recommends using one whole egg and two egg whites for two servings of scrambled eggs. Two egg whites may also be substituted for one whole egg in many baked products.

Eating out can be a quick way to reach the 300 milligram limit. A meal consisting of a quarter-pound hamburger, with cheese and trimmings, french fries and a vanilla milkshake can have between 95 and 159 milligrams of cholesterol, about half of what is recommended for the day.

Some seafoods are also high in cholesterol. Three and one-half ounces of raw shrimp have 150 milligrams of cholesterol, an equal serving of lobster has 200 milligrams.

Organ meats such as beef, pork and chicken livers are high sources of cholesterol, ranging from 250 to 400 milligrams per 2-ounce serving.

"Liver is high in cholesterol, but it is also an excellent source of iron that our body needs," Mixon said. "People need to realize we don't have to give up these foods with cholesterol in them, we have to learn to control our intake. Sometimes this means a trade-off. Eat an egg for breakfast, but know you have to trade-off other high cholesterol foods during the day."
